Language Arts

This week, we have been learning about the sound (t). Now, students are able to recognize (t) sound, write it using the right formation and giving words starting with it.

This week, we have been working on (my feelings). We have been trying to teach the students how to express their feelings in an appropriate way. Students have been learning about how they could feel in different situations.

Students were introduced to the second sight word (like). They have attempted their first writing trials by writing (I like ...) in their writing journals :)

Heads up

- Sept. 29 half for students (students leave at 11:30)
- Oct. 2, 6 days off

Math

This week we have been learning about how to count and write numbers one through five. We also talked about ordering these numbers correctly and using objects to represent different numbers.

Be Creative :)

Science

The students will identify and describe the five senses (see, hear, taste, touch, and smell), while also understanding which body part is used for each sense. They will also use their five senses to explore and learn about the world around them.

Social Studies

The focus for this week is learning what it looks like to cooperate and work together. We will be working on memorizing the definitions through vocabulary chants with actions. We will also be reading a story about the importance of sharing and have an activity where the students will put their knowledge into action by working together.
